The Few - a Battle of Britain Tribute.

Grammar. Few is a quantifier used with plural countable nouns. Without the article "a," few emphasizes a small number of something. Adding the article removes the emphasis—a few means some. The same rule applies to little, which is used with singular uncountable nouns.

Few, A Few—What's the Difference? | Grammarly

Using a few instead of few in a sentence changes a sentence's meaning. Whereas "a few" implies a small number of some that is greater than two, "few" implies only a small number. Other words, like "very" or "quite," may also come before "a few" or "few" and further change sentence meaning. Examples can be found below.
