Series 90 - Gregg Shorthand
>>series 90? Marketing, marketing, marketing. Fast = hard, hard = hard to sell (to students and administrators). Easy = appealing, appealing = easy to sell. In fact, shorthand was already fading from the curriculum by the time series 90 came along . . . it was part of a last-ditch effort to create something that schools would want to continue to teach.

The smear campaign against Series 90 was started by a disgruntled former employee of McGraw-Hill. He was upset that they went farther away from Anniversary with each new revision of the system. A decade ago he posted (in what is now gregg-shorthand.com) his theory that Series 90 was slow and was partly to blame for the decline of interest in shorthand classes throughout the English speaking world.
