The Napoleonic Code, officially the Civil Code of the French is the French civil code established under the French Consulate in 1804 and still in force, although frequently amended. It was drafted by a commission of four eminent jurists and entered into force on 21 March 1804. The Code, with its stress on clearly written and accessible law, was a major step in replacing the previous patchwork of feudal laws. Historian Robert Holtman regards it as one of the few documents that have influenced the 14 La résolution is used in the Code civil as promulgated in 1804 to denote the retroactive termination of a contract, coupled with (in principle) restitution and counter-restitution: this follows from the significance of its definition and use of la condition résolutoire: see arts 1183-1184 C.civ. Under the new law, la résolution is said to put an end to the contract (art. 1229 al. 1), but the effect of this may be retroactive or may instead be prospective, where it is termed 'la ...
