The law of restitution is concerned with the questions of when restitutionary remedies may be awarded. These are remedies which operate to deprive defendants of gains rather than to compensate claimants for losses. The traditional approach to the subject assumes that restitutionary remedies are only available to reverse unjust enrichment.

~~Principles of the Law of Restitution — Oxford Scholarship~~

For the claimant to bring a restitutionary claim, the defendant must have been unjustly enriched at the expense of the claimant. A restitutionary remedy seeks to reverse that unjust enrichment, by restoring the relevant benefit or enrichment to the claimant. Claims in restitution are frequently contrasted with claims (in contract or tort) for compensatory damages, which focus upon the damage suffered by the claimant, rather than the unjust enrichment of the defendant.
